HISTORY OF THE DEPOT

The Winterville Depot once called the Six-Mile Station was purchased by the city in 1982 and renovated for use as a community center and town hall. City Council meetings and other meetings were held in this depot for several years. Today, our depot has been renovated once again through the general funding of a Department of Transportation grant. The depot is the heart of our community and is host to many community meeting and social functions.

If you are looking for a place to have a baby shower, wedding reception, family reunion, or Grandma's birthday. The Winterville Depot may be just the place!
